

THE EVENING CRITIC.

ESTABLISHED AUGUST, 1869.

Prince Leopold Made a Peer.
Mr. Smalley writes as follows in his last letter to the New York Tribune from London:

By far the most important announcement in the morning papers is the following: With reference to the creation of Prince Leopold Duke of Albany, Earl of Clarence, and Baron Arklow, his Royal Highness will, except on public and official occasions, generally retain the style of Prince Leopold; and when the title of Duke of Albany is used, the name "Prince Leopold" will always be prefixed.

So that is settled, and the world, relieved henceforward of its anxious doubts on this momentous matter, may devote a portion of its time to such trifles as business and legislation. Nothing I can say will give a sufficient notion of the gravity of the ordinance above quoted. You will print it in small characters, maybe, in a corner. Here it is blazoned forth in all the dignity of leader type, in the most conspicuous position in the paper, and is the subject of endless discussion, public and private. It puts all the peerages I mean the book so-called—out of date at once. Whether the creation of this new dignity for the Queen's fourth son is to be the occasion for a new grant of money out of the public purse were not yet told. Probably not. He has at present £15,000 a year from that source. The present creation gives him a seat in the House of Lords and makes him a legislator. Heretofore, though a Prince of the United Kingdom, he was not a Peer, and had no part in the framing of statutes for the government of this Empire, as his brothers, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh and the Duke of Connaught, have. The two latter had this privilege conferred on them by the more or less haphazard of the Queen's fourth son is to be their birth, but their peerages were not bestowed till they had passed their majority.

The Prince of Wales, however, who honored this world by being born into it on the 9th of November, 1841, was created by patent Prince of Wales and Earl of Chester while still in his tender years, and less than a month old, and sits in the Lords as Prince of Wales, being the only member of that august assembly whose peerage is a principality, or principality, or whatever the word may be. There is no record of his voting while in the Lords. His more recent and best known legislative efforts have been made in promotion of the bill to legalize marriages with deceased wives' sisters. I am not sure that he did not once say or do something in connection with a proposal to improve the breed of horses in England. Prince Leopold, however, has taken the aesthetic, artistic, literary line. The clever little speeches he has from time to time recited in public in favor of culture and in behalf of educational institutions have been thought to indicate that he had an excellent memory. The same gift may be useful to him in the House of Lords, where there is a rule against reading speeches.

How Music Pays.
Max Strakosky yesterday filed his assignment schedules in the New York Court of Common Pleas. They show his liabilities to be $87,492.04, his assets $14,000, and his actual assets $5,290. Among his assets are the complete vocal and orchestral scores of 70 operas, which he values at $4,000, but he believes they would not bring more than $1,200 at a sale. There are also the wardrobe and properties for "Aida," "Carmen," "Faust," and "Lohengrin," and other stage properties. These have values at $10,000, but he thinks they could be sold for not more than $4,000. Among Mr. Strakosky's creditors are Mme. Marie Rose, $1,816.85; Mme. Octave Torriani, $1,000; Mme. Anna de Beloe, $1,523.28; Messrs. Stout & Thayer, $11,012.10 for borrowed money; Charles Wills, $3,760 for services; and Charles H. Nelson, the assignee, $1,500 for services and borrowed money.

Postal Cards and Morals.
A man must be extremely mean and small to get down to writing with postal cards, but it seems by the records of the United States District Attorney's office that New York has plenty of such men. The only purpose of being abusive, insolent or indecent by postal cards is, of course, that the missive may be seen by persons other than the man to whom the card is addressed, which is the object of the sender. No gentleman, no man with common instincts of propriety, will communicate private intelligence of any sort by postal card, and any one who drops low enough to try to influence opinion by such petty means can safely be suspected of some gross offense against manners and decency, and perpetrated anonymously through the mails.—New York Herald.

Miscellany.
It is now claimed that Satan prevailed over Eve by luring her to the forbidden fruit.

London managers say that their theatres can be emptied in four minutes.

It is said that the Conkling people propose to start a newspaper in New York.

EX-PRESIDENT HAYES plays lawn tennis as if he were trying to catch butterflies with a poke bonnet.

DID THE CAZAR really torture the Nihilists convicted of his father's assassination? The Nihilists are certainly torturing the Czar.

A Boston writer about the voice says that "it would be like to teach absolute pitch at once." He cannot even wait until the next political campaign.

A NEW JERSEY man asked his wife, "What is your glass?" "William," said she, "it is something to measure time by—that is, the time between drinks."

THE Herdle coaches are to be the next novelty for Boston. We expect to see the people of the whole city admiring the Fourth by riding about in them.

A PARIS paper says that crinottes for a tall lady should have four or five deep flounces of crinoline muslin, and that for a short lady two are sufficient.

SHE was very blooming as she stood at the altar, and the man who was soon to be her husband was a dandy-looking fellow. "Well," said one of her old beaux, "she takes the cake."

SAVED FROM THE WRECK OF THE FREEDMEN'S BANK. Controller of the Currency Knapp desires depositors in the late Freedmen's Savings Bank informed that there is still remaining in his hands a large part of the $100,000 unclaimed dividends, and if it is not called for before the 1st of September next, it will be covered into the treasury. Controller Knapp has received a number of pass books representing small amounts from depositors entitled to share in the unclaimed dividends on hand since the first announcement and their owners have received their money. He would like to see hundreds more. He was asked by a former depositor where he intended to deposit his new dividend. He said it would not be until after the meeting of Congress in December next. He is unable now under the law to sell the Freedmen's Bank building to the Government or anybody else for less than $250,000. He wants to be authorized to sell it if he can, since that is more than he can get for it. Then he will sell it and declare a dividend. He thinks it may possibly be bought after it shall have been reduced by the commission as a new building for the Pension Bureau. It will be necessary for Congress to remedy a defect in the act creating this commission before this can be done. These depositors will have to wait a few months more.

THE COURTS.

CRIMINAL COURT.—In the Criminal Court this morning James Carr, indicted for robbery, recognizance forfeited, bench warrant issued and seire facias order issued; Henry Matthews, burglarious entry, set for Thursday, June 23; John T. Mitchell, rape, set for Tuesday, June 21.

Charles Brannon, petit larceny, (second offense) verdict guilty; motion for new trial filed. Jesse Moberly, burglary and larceny, verdict guilty and sentenced to Auburn State prison for three years. Joseph Ford, held to await action of the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny of valuable from Martin Ford, was released on $500 bail with Michael Ford as surety.

CIRCUIT COURT.—In the case of Browning vs. District of Columbia, yesterday the jury rendered a verdict for defendant, under instructions from the Court.

To-day, Hemmer vs. the Inland and Seaboard Coastwise Co. This is an action in which a balance is claimed of some $890 for meals furnished the steamers Lady of the Lake and Jane Mosely. Jury out.

COURT IN BANC.—In this court to-day, G. Fisher, application for patent (rail joint); opinion of Judge Wylie delivered affirming decision of the Patent officer.

The application of Clarence F. Barrett, for admission to the bar, was referred to the committee.

Weisenfeld, Starr & Co., vs. Hetzel; on hearing.

Have We a School Ring?

To the Editor of the Critic:

Sir: A number of people in this city would like to know under what rules promotions are made from the female high school to the normal school. This problem has been the cause of annual agitation among the scholars and their parents for several years. It has been the cause of much surprise and disappointment on the part of students and their parents than anything else occurring during the scholastic year. This season of annual examination is no exception. Last Saturday the students of the high school were examined for seats in the normal and the result was made known on Tuesday. It brought greater surprise, in several instances, than ever before, showing that the peculiar method in use by the board of trustees is growing, to say the least. During the past two years one young lady, whose name can be given, has held, by the right of written examination, the highest seats in her class. She stood, also, very high in attendance and deportment, until her teachers and the entire school considered her promotion certain. With the class of thirty-six members she was summoned before the board of trustees on Saturday last, with high hopes of attaining her goal of ambition, and no one doubted her success, for she was admitted to be the brightest of the number. Yesterday the result was made known before the school, and the favorite was not mentioned in the list of the twenty-five fortunate ones. Those who had always been at and near the lower standard of class rating were given promotions—how, or on what basis, is not known. This is a question which the patrons of the school would like to have the board of trustees answer. D.

Justice to All, Partiality to None.

THE CRITIC has never mentioned the name of the writer of the following communication, but it willingly accords him the privilege of setting himself right before the public:

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 15, 1881.

Editor EVENING CRITIC:

DEAR SIR: In your issue of Tuesday last there appeared a graphic account of the arrest of John Bruce for being drunk and disorderly, and among the names of his friends, have been constructed it to mean John E. Bruce, your humble servant. I desire to state that I never was drunk in my life, and have never been put in the cooler for that highly-fashionable offense. The next man that says anything to me on the subject—well, I won't say what I was going to say, but I had better get his life insured, and borrowed money.

Very truly yours, &c., J. E. BRUCE.

Political Points.

The New Hampshire Legislature has elected the following State officers: Secretary of State, A. B. Thompson, of Concord; Treasurer, Solon A. Carter, of Keene; State Printer, Parsons B. Cogswell, of Concord; Commissary General, George C. Lane, of Exeter.

The Greenback Labor party of Ohio held a convention at Columbus yesterday, and the following nominations were made: Governor, John Selitz; Lieutenant-Governor, Charles Jenkins; Supreme Judge, DeWitt C. Loudon; Board of Public Works, Henry L. Watson. There were 150 delegates present. The vacancy on the Supreme Bench of Minnesota, caused by the death of Judge Cornell, is to be filled by the appointment of Judge Dickinson, of Mankato.

Applied Theology.

At a meeting of the Woburn Conference, Farmer Allen, of Wakefield, related the following anecdote:

On Sunday morning, while a certain deacon was preparing for church, a wandering wayfarer, or, in modern parlance, a tramp, appeared at his door, pleaded his hunger, and begged for something to eat. The deacon looked solemn and frowningly, and asked the tramp if he had any bread to beg to eat; but while doing so took occasion to admonish the beggar concerning the error of his ways. After reminding him that it was the holy Sabbath which he was desecrating, he asked him if he knew how to pray. "No," was the reply. "Then," said the deacon, "I'll loan you one," and he commenced to repeat the Lord's prayer.

But just as he uttered the first words, "Our Father," the beggar interrupted him with the question, "What, is he your father and mine, too?"

"Yes," the deacon replied.

"Why," exclaimed the beggar, "we are brothers, then, ain't we? Can't you cut that slice a little thicker?"

Another Stationary Stencil.

During the last administration Butler, Blaine and Evans sat together in friendly confab at a dinner company. Secretary Evans—a high liver—smoked his pipe after the terrapin soup and turning to Butler, asked: "General, how much would it cost a year to have terrapin for dinner every day?" An estimate was made. "But General, I cannot afford so expensive a luxury, and yet I would exceedingly like to treat myself and my friends to this delicacy daily. You who are so experienced in framing bills and engineering them through Congress, can you not smuggle through an appropriation providing the Secretary of State with funds sufficient to supply his larder with this delicious viand?"

The terrapin is a slow animal, is it not, Mr. Secretary?" "Yes, General, proverbially slow." "Well," said Butler, "I think we might introduce and pass such a provision under the name of stationary."

Go to W. H. VERHOEFF for the newest styles of picture-framing and wall-paper.

The Man Without a Home.

Where does the ex-Primate reside? The Congressional Directory says Utica, but since his resignation he has lived partly in Albany and partly in this city. There are doubtless charms in the society of Mike Cogan and his Hippopotamus. Dutcher, who the world knows not, but it might be a good thing for the ex-Senator to break off for a while from such gay company, and go home and take a rest. Perhaps he has forgotten all about it; some of his friends ought to remind him of it. Utica, N. Y., by the Central Railroad.—New York Tribune.

THE RIFLE MATCH.

An Interesting Time at Glymont—A Tie Between Company A and the National Rifles.

The military rifle match at Glymont yesterday attracted a large crowd from Washington and the surrounding country. The trip was enjoyable in the highest degree. The prize to be shot for was a massive silver goblet, ornamented with military designs, donated by Hon. J. T. Beckham, of Alexandria, Va., and was contested for by the following teams: Company A, Washington Light Infantry—Miller, Goddard, Beall, Hale, Harrison—Ross and Cash. National Rifles—Lauritzen, Laird, Burnside, Vale, Sample, Johnston and Oyster. Alexandria Light Infantry—Downey, Fowler, Monroe, Vinson, Warfield, White and Wheat.

The score was as follows:

WASHINGTON LIGHT INFANTRY.

Miller 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Goddard 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Beall 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Hale 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Harrison 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Ross 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Cash 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Total 4 4 3 2 1 5—156

NATIONAL RIFLES.

Lauritzen 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Laird 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Burnside 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Vale 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Sample 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Johnston 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Oyster 4 4 3 2 1 5—26
Total 4 4 3 2 1 5—156

ALEXANDRIA LIGHT INFANTRY.

Downey 0 2 2 0 2 3—12
Fowler 2 3 0 4 3 0—12
Monroe 2 3 0 4 3 0—12
Vinson 0 2 2 0 2 3—12
Warfield 2 3 0 4 3 0—12
White 2 3 0 4 3 0—12
Wheat 2 3 0 4 3 0—12
Total 0 2 2 0 2 3—101

The score, being a tie in orders, numbers, centres, and bull-eyes, the rules required that the total of each round in inverse order should be taken. According to this the total of the seventh round of the Washington Light Infantry and the Rifles was a tie, and therefore had to go to the sixth round, where the footing of the Rifles exceeded that of the Infantry by four points. The referees of the respective teams not being thoroughly posted in the rules of the National Association, they decided to refer the question to that association for their decision. After the regular shooting for the cup was concluded, a match was made between Cash, of the Washington Light Infantry, and Corporal Charles E. Fraser, of the National Rifles. Private George W. Evans, of the Corps, and Johnston, of the Rifles, at two hundred yards, for $5, each one to be entitled to five measure shots. After a spirited contest the match was won by Johnston by eleven inches. Captains of teams—Washington Light Infantry, Lieut. B. R. Ross; National Rifles, Col. J. O. P. Burnside; Alexandria Light Infantry, F. F. Marbury. Referees—Washington Light Infantry, Corporal Charles E. Fraser; National Rifles, Private J. O. Manson; Alexandria Light Infantry, Hon. J. T. Beckham. Official scorers—Sergeant George A. Thomas, Private W. H. McWhorter, Washington Light Infantry; Private George A. Thomas, Corporal F. M. Barnes, National Rifles; L. Marbury, L. McInerney, Alexandria Light Infantry.

Sporting Notes.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY crew were practicing on the Thames yesterday, doing splendidly and pulling together as one man. The style, however, is deemed more showy than effective, but critics say there is plenty of time in which to redeem their fault.

At a meeting of the Harvard University Boat Club last evening, to decide upon the day for the Harvard-Yale race at New London, it was voted that it was the desire of Harvard to row on Friday, July 1.

THE spring meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club opened yesterday. The first race, for all ages, five furlongs, was won by Sir Hugh; time 1:04. The second race, Tidal stakes, for three-year-olds, one mile, was won by Hindor; time 1:43. The third race, for all ages, selling allowances, mile and a furlong, was won by Warfield; time 1:50. The fourth race, for maidens, all ages, mile and a quarter, was won by Aurora Baby; time 2:16. The fifth race, a steeple-chase for all ages, over the full course, was won by Disturbance; time 4:15.

BASE BALL games were played yesterday as follows: At Boston, the Bostonians defeated the Detroit 7 to 1; at Worcester the Buffaloes defeated the Worcesters 4 to 3; at Providence the Chicagoans defeated the Providence 10 to 1; at Cleveland the Clevelanders defeated the Indians 7 to 0.

Vital Statistics.

The total mortality in the District of Columbia for the week ending Saturday, June 11, 1881, was 74 (being 25 more than the week previous), or at the rate of 21.4 per centum. Of the deceased, 20 were white males, 19 white females, 15 colored males and 20 colored females, showing an annual death rate of 16.9 per 1,000 for the white population and 30 for the colored.

Of the deaths 52 occurred in Washington, 7 in Georgetown, 6 in the county, and 9 in the hospital. Thirty-five of the deceased were natives of the District, 24 of foreign parts of the United States, and 5 of foreign countries. There were 156 births reported, as follows: 17 white males, 15 white females, 11 colored males, and 13 colored females. Marriages reported 11, white 8, colored 3. Still-births, 4—white 2, colored 2.

English Paupers $4.50.

A FIRE in Brooklyn yesterday destroyed $300,000 worth of property.

SEVERAL thousand workmen are on a strike in Stockholm, and riots are feared.

The remains of the late Paymaster Browne, U. S. N., have been taken to Baltimore for interment.

SILAS M. WAITE, ex-president of the First National Bank of Brattleboro, Vt., has been sentenced to six years' imprisonment for violation of the National banking act.

FOLLOWING is the official statement of the number of houses destroyed and families rendered homeless and destitute by the fire on the 8th of the instant: Six hundred and forty-two houses, 1,211 families, consisting of 6,028 individuals. Two-thirds of the above have lost their all, and have no insurance on their property.

MORE arrests under the coercion act are reported from Ireland. The Irish coast squadron will be strengthened at once. The police at Liverpool have formed a section of McGrath, one of the persons under arrest, charged with attempting to blow up the Town Hall, a book with the names of Fenian accomplices. The authorities of Scotland Yard have received information that other attempts on public buildings are designed.

At noon yesterday John Graciano, who is trying to starve himself at Chicago, weighed 172½ pounds, being a gain of a quarter of a pound in the last twenty-four hours, during which he drank thirty-two ounces of water. His respiration was 16, pulse 62, and temperature 98.6. A microscopic examination of his blood showed it to be in an almost perfectly healthy condition. He pressed the dynamometer to its utmost limit, and with a dead weight lifted 500 pounds. This lift was made on the spur of speculation and equal to the lift of an athletic competitor, who might show himself at the gymnasium, but it probably have lifted more but for the danger of overtaxing himself.

For cheap trunk and valises, go to Hertzog's, 308 Ninth street.

The Cotton Crop.

The reports from the southern cotton exchanges respecting the prospects for the season's crop are coming in. So far as received, they indicate a general increase of acreage, though not any improvement in the quantity or quality on an average, but rather the reverse. There is quite a general complaint of dry weather, and in a few places the cotton worm is causing trouble, though its ravages are not numerous. Taking the increased acreage into account, there will probably be as large a total yield as last year.

MARRIED.
BENNETT-DAVIS.—On Wednesday, June 15, 1881, by Rev. J. G. Butler, Dr. Philo H. Bennett, of New York, and Hattie V. Davis, daughter of the late Jas. V. Davis, of this city. No cards.

DIED.
BAIER.—On Monday, June 13, 1881, after a long and severe illness of twenty months from the softening of the brain, G. K. Baier, a native of Wurtemberg, Germany, aged 37 years, 3 months and 11 days. An affectionate husband, a kind father, and a constant friend.
